Teacher, author, and spiritual director, Dr. Ross Porter, has long been dedicated to helping people do good, and be good, for the Good.

This former Presbyterian minister turned Catholic convert shares his inspirational journey towards Catholicism as well as dealing with life's struggles when he and his wife's first child, John Michael, born with Down Syndrome, ignited a passion to create a non-profit organization that understood the unique blessings and challenges of life with a special needs child. Understanding God's graces, his love for family and for the Lord, Dr. Porter found a calling to use the instruments the Lord has given him to help others within the community.

He received his B.A. from the University of California, Santa Barbara and his Master of Divinity (Theology) and Ph. D. (Clinical Psychology) degrees from the Fuller Theological Seminary, where he first became interested in the integration of psychology and theology.

Dr. Porter is a sought after speaker and retreat director, having spoken at conferences, churches, schools, and retreat centers both nationally and internationally. He is also the founder and Executive Director of Stillpoint Family Resources, a non-profit organization that offers counseling and educational services through seminars and online. He is also the Director of Faith Formation and Evangelization at St. Mel parish. He has taught education at all levels and directed multiple retreats throughout the United States. Dr. Porter is the author of seven books including "Becoming a True Self: 40 ways in 40 days", "Building an Outstanding Family", "Hidden Graces". Our Magnificat, Queen of Angels Chapter invites you hear Dr. Porter's interesting and inspiring testimony. Bring a friend!
